A

SHORT ACCOUNT

OF THE LIBRARY.

The foundation of the present institution was laid in the year 1731, when but few resources for literary research were accessible in America. A small number of gentlemen having subscribed the sum of one hundred pounds, a collection was commenced upon principles well calculated to disseminate knowledge, the books being allowed to be carried to the dwellings of the members of the company for perusal during their hours of leisure.

By slow degrees new members were added to the company, and the stock of books was annually increased by purchases, and by donations; among the donors the then proprietaries of Pennsylvania are to be numbered, and from them a charter of perpetual incorporation was obtained in 1742.*

* On the eighteenth of June, 1738, Dr. Walter Sydserfe, of the island of Antigua, presented to the company, for the purchase of books, the sum of thirty-four pounds, six shillings, three pence, sterling.

Samuel Norris, Esq. a respectable member of the company, bequeathed to the institution, in the year 1746, the sum of twenty pounds. This was the first legacy left to the company.

Abraham Claypoole, by his will, dated July 4, 1750, bequeathed to the company, at the death of his mother, one hundred pounds, Pennsylvania currency, which was paid to the treasurer, with three years' interest due thereon, in August, 1789. It was by mere accident that the directors of the institution obtained a knowledge of this bequest, three years after it became payable. This circumstance gave rise to that useful provision made by the legislature of this state, which enjoins as a duty on the registers of wills, to give notice to the society or incorporated body to whom a legacy shall hereafter be left.

The late William Logan, son of the Hon. James Logan, the founder of the Loganian Library, presented to the institution a number of very scarce and valuable works.

The utility and success of this measure, caused other libraries to be commenced, but it soon appeared to be more conducive to the interests of literature, that there should be one large rather than several small collections of books, and coalitions gradually took place among them, till the Amicable, the Association, and the Union companies were blended with the Library Company of Philadelphia, the title conferred by the charter.

Since this period the members and property of the company have continued to increase, the former being eight hundred and thirty-six in number; the number of volumes exclusive of eight thousand six hundred and sixty-three in the Loganian Library, (of which there is a separate catalogue,) permanently annexed to this institution, at present amounts to thirty-five thousand two hundred and twenty-one, the selection being generally of a character to promote the more important interests of society; this stock is continually increased by occasional donations, importations, and purchases of American productions of merit.

Besides the books, the personal property consists in some available funds yielding interest, the sale of shares, the price of each of which since 1793 has been fixed at forty dollars, and the annual payments of four dollars from each member. The real estate of the company consists of the lot and buildings where the Philadelphia and Loganian libraries are kept.

The members dispose of their shares by transfer or will, but the assent of the directors, as well in such cases, as in case of an original purchase, is previously necessary; a restriction early adopted, in order, as much as possible, to prevent improper persons from having access to a collection of a nature peculiarly liable to injury.

Of the value of the library as a whole, it is sufficient to refer the inquirer to the accompanying catalogue, which, however incomplete in some of its departments, will, it is believed, compare advantageously with any in America. The influence which it has exerted, and con-

John Bleakley, Esq. who had been a much esteemed director of the institution bequeathed to the company the sum of one thousand pounds, which was paid to the treasurer of the institution, in November, 1804, by Joseph P. Norris, Esq. the executor of his last will.

In 1803, the Rev. Samuel Preston, rector of Chevening, in Kent, Great Britain, bequeathed to the company above two thousand five hundred volumes, many of them very splendid works; and two shares of the stock of the first Bank of the United States, the par value of which was eight hundred Dollars. In August, 1804, the company received from London the books, prints, &c. bequeathed by the Rev. Samuel Preston, and an elegant portrait of him, painted by our celebrated countryman Benjamin West, presented to the institution by Mrs. West.

The late William Mackenzie, Esq. of this city, bequeathed five hundred volumes to be chosen by the directors from his English books; he also made a liberal bequest to the Loganian Library, and by an arrangement made with the executors of his last will and testament the residue of his valuable library was purchased on very liberal terms by the two institutions.

Dr. Thomas Parke, who had, with great fidelity, served the institution as a director for nearly fifty-seven years, bequeathed to the company a perpetual ground rent of fifty dollars per annum, free from taxes—valued at one thousand dollars.

tinues to exert, on the character of the city in which it is located has been and is highly beneficial. During the period when the congress of the United States, and the legislature of the state met in Philadelphia, the use of its treasures was freely granted to the members; and though it is desirable that the library should not partake of the character of a reading-room, the Athenæum supplying that desideratum, citizens and strangers are permitted to consult the books without charge.

An act to authorize the Directors of the Library Company of Philadelphia to increase the annual payment of the Members of the said Company.

WHEREAS, by the charter of the said company, the annual payments directed to be made by its respective members appear limited to the sum of ten shillings, which, from the depreciation of money since the year one thousand seven hundred and forty-two, when the said charter was granted, has become inadequate to the purposes originally intended: And whereas, the stockholders in the said company, at a general meeting on the sixteenth of March, one thousand seven hundred and ninety-five, instructed the Directors to petition the Legislature to pass a law authorizing the said Directors to increase the said payments to two dollars; and it appears reasonable that the prayer of the said petitioners should be granted.

Section 1. Be it therefore enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That the Directors of the Library Company, for the time being, be, and they are hereby, authorized to increase the annual payments hereafter to be made by the members of the said company, to the sum of two dollars from each member of the said company, any thing in the charter thereof to the contrary in any wise notwithstanding.

THOMAS MIFFLIN,
Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

An Act to amend the Charter of the Library Company of Philadelphia.

WHEREAS, it has been represented by the Directors of the Library Company of Philadelphia, and appears to the Legislature that the members of said Company are desirous their Charter may be altered so as to vest in themselves the power to enlarge the amount of their annual payments:

Section 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That from and after the passing of this act, it shall and may be lawful for the members or stockholders in the Library Company of Philadelphia, at their general meetings, to fix, alter or enlarge the annual payments thereafter to be made, from time to time, as they shall deem just and reasonable; and also, if they think fit, to authorize the Directors, for the time being, so to fix, alter, or enlarge the same, any thing in their charter or by-laws to the contrary in any wise notwithstanding: Provided always nevertheless, That the same shall, at no time, be fixed at less than two, or more than five dollars per annum, exclusive of accustomed penalties or forfeitures for delay or neglect of payment.

JOHN LAPORTE,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.
WM. G. HAWKINS, Speaker of the Senate.

BY-LAWS.

A Law directing the manner of admitting new members.

It is enacted by the Library Company of Philadelphia, That no person who shall hereafter become possessed of a share in the books and effects of the said company, shall be thereby entitled to a vote in any of their affairs, or be deemed a member, without first being approved of by the Directors for the time being; nor shall any person, other than the heirs, executors, or assigns of a member of the said company, be entitled to a share in the books, estate and effects of the said company, without paying into the hands of the said company's Treasurer, so much money as in the judgment of the said Directors a share shall then be worth.

None to be admitted, without being first approved, &c.

And it is further enacted, That upon approbation of the Directors, and payment of the said money, the party paying it, shall receive of the Treasurer a certificate under his hand, and the seal of the company, containing the name of the person and the sum paid, the time when, and the account or use for which he paid it: of all which a record shall be made in the records of the said company. Which certificate shall entitle the person therein mentioned, to a share in the company's books, estate and effects, and to be deemed a member.

Treasurer to give a certificate.

Record to be made.

A Law for preserving a just equality among the members, and to prevent the inconveniences that may arise by any persons holding more than one share.

It is enacted, for the preservation of a just equality among the members of the Library Company, That no person being a member, and holding a share in the library, &c. shall grant, sell, or convey to any other member, or accept of a grant, bargain, sale, or other conveyance or assurance from any other member, of any share or shares in the books, estate, and effects of the said company; on penalty of forfeiting to the company such share or shares, so purchased, sold, granted, or conveyed.

No member shall sell his share to another member, &c.

Penalty.

And if any member, as executor or administrator of another, or by any other means, come to have in his hands a plurality of shares, he shall not thereby be entitled to more than one vote at elections, or on any other occasion, nor have a right to take out more books at one time than any other member.

No member to have more than one vote, &c.

A Law for regulating elections of officers, and declaring their trust and duty.

For the better preservation of order and government among the Library Company of Philadelphia, and in the use, application and management of the moneys, library and effects of the said company,

Members to meet on the first Monday in May.

It is enacted, That the members of the said company shall, in person, or by proxy, annually attend at the place of election in the city of Philadelphia, on the first Monday of the month of May, in every year; and that as many as so meet, and appear to be duly qualified,

Treasurer and ten Directors to be chosen.

shall proceed to the choice of a person of the company, to be the company's Treasurer, and ten other persons of the company, to be Directors for the year next ensuing, and so from year to year. The place of election to be agreed on by the Directors of the current year, and notified by their Secretary, twenty days at least before the election, by printed advertisements. The electors to choose by written tickets, each containing the names of the ten persons voted Directors, and the name of the person voted Treasurer; and those who shall thereupon appear to have a majority of votes, shall be the company's Treasurer, and the Directors, respectively, for the year ensuing. That the said Directors shall, and are hereby required and empowered, to nominate some fit person of the company to be their Secretary for the year ensuing, who shall preside and collect the votes at the election aforesaid, and shall faithfully enter, in a book to be kept for that purpose, the names of the said electors, and the number of the names of the candidates, according to the tickets.

Electors to appoint assistants to the Secretary, &c.

That it shall and may be lawful to and for the electors aforesaid, when so met, to appoint persons to assist the Secretary in gathering the votes, and entering and numbering the names of the electors and persons voted for, and other service appertaining to the election, and to appoint and direct any method and rule in proceeding to and making the said election, so as they appoint or direct nothing to prejudice the right of any member, or infringe the charter or laws of the company.

Director refusing to act, &c. the rest may nominate another.

That if any person elected Director, shall refuse to act, or shall happen to die or depart this province, so as to be absent for the space of two months, in any of the first ten months of the year for which he shall be elected Director; or if within the same year, or term of his office, he shall be confined by sickness, or otherwise rendered incapable of executing the office of a Director, according to the true meaning hereof, the rest of the Directors, as often as occasion shall require, in any of the cases aforesaid, shall proceed in their duty and office without him; or, if they think fit, they shall nominate some other suitable person to supply his place of a Director, until the then next ensuing election.

Treasurer neglecting his duty, &c. may be displaced, &c.

That if any person so elected Treasurer, shall absent himself from his said office for the space of thirty days, or shall otherwise be rendered incapable, or neglect his office or duty of Treasurer, in the judgment of the Directors for the time being, it shall and may be lawful for the Directors to displace him from any longer continuance in his said office: and the Directors causing their Secretary to make a minute for the purpose, containing their reasons for displacing him, he shall thereupon, and from thenceforth cease to be the Treasurer aforesaid; and shall, upon notice thereof, adjust and settle with the Directors, and pay and deliver the company's money and effects in his hands, to such person as the Directors shall order and appoint: and in that case, and so often, and also if the Treasurer shall depart this life, the person who at the last election had the greatest number of votes, next the highest (if alive, willing and capable) shall be substituted Treasurer, to supply the place of such deceased or displaced Treasurer; for which purpose the Secretaries presiding at elections shall preserve the votes: but if the said person cannot, or will not, serve, the Directors shall nominate another person of the company, but not of their own number, to be Treasurer until the next annual election.

How the vacancy is to be supplied.

That every person so chosen to be the company's Treasurer, immediately upon entering into his office, shall receive of the preceding Treasurer, his heirs, executors or administrators, the company's cash and books of accounts, giving his receipt for the same; and shall enter into an obligation, with one sufficient surety, in double the value that doth, or probably may come into his hands during the continuance of his office, as near as can be estimated by the Directors, unto the Library Company of Philadelphia, conditioned that he will once a month, or oftener, if required, well and truly adjust, account and settle with them, for and concerning all moneys that are or shall come into his hands, belonging to the said company; and that he will well and truly deliver up and pay the balance of the moneys remaining in his hands, together with the books of accounts concerning the same, and the company's papers in his keeping, unto his successor in the said office, or such other person or service as the Directors, for the time being, shall order and appoint, and not otherwise; and that he will observe, do, and execute all other things as the company's Treasurer aforesaid, according to the sense and true meaning of this law.

Treasurer to enter into obligation, &c.

That all officers and servants belonging to the company, other than their Treasurer, shall be in the choice, and under the order and direction of the Directors, who shall be accountable for their fidelity, and may displace them, and appoint others, as often as they shall think fit: which Directors shall have the power of calling general meetings, when they judge it necessary for the interest of the company, and shall cause due and public notice to be given of the occasion and design or purpose of such meetings; and shall nominate some discreet member to preside therein, and regulate the debates thereof: they shall also have the disposal of the moneys paid to the Treasurer to and for the use and service of the library; they shall have the choosing of books for the library; the renting a house or place for the service of the library; the furnishing the same with presses, shelves, and other things necessary and fit; the keeping and power of affixing the seal of the company; which seal shall be and remain the same that is now used and affixed to this law, until another shall be appointed; the lending of books; the appointing securities for the return of the books to the library, and the prices of the loans; the printing and dispersing of catalogues; the admission of new members, under the limitations and conditions now or hereafter to be established by the laws of the company; the settling the accounts with the company's Treasurer; the payment of house-rent, servants, and officers' wages, and all other incident charges belonging to the company. Moreover the Directors are hereby invested with a discretional power to make suitable returns (on behalf of the company) unto such benefactors as shall honour them by donations or otherwise.

Directors to choose the other officers, &c.

Directors, their power and duty.

Directors to meet monthly.

And for the more orderly execution of the duty and trust belonging to the said Directors, they are hereby required to meet once a month at the place where the library shall be kept, or some other fit place in the said city of Philadelphia, to confer and conclude concerning the matters hereby committed to them. In every of which meetings of the Directors aforesaid, seven of their number met shall be a quorum, capable to consult, confer, and conclude of, and upon all matters appertaining to the Directors, according to the laws and constitutions of the company; and whatever six of the number so met shall so conclude, shall be deemed and taken for and as the resolution of the Directors for the time, and accordingly entered in their minutes.

Seven of them a quorum.

Charter to be deposited in the library.

That the charter granted to the said company shall be deposited in the library for the inspection and perusal of all persons concerned; who shall also have recourse to the journals of the Directors, the minutes and entries of their Secretaries, with the Treasurer's accounts, and all other books and papers belonging to the company; and may, if the Directors think fit, take copies thereof.

A Law for recording the laws of the company, and the names of such persons as shall hereafter be admitted members thereof, &c.

To the end that the laws of the Library Company of Philadelphia may be securely preserved, and that every member of the said company may have opportunity of being fully acquainted therewith; It is hereby enacted by the said company, that all laws passed at the general meetings of the said company, pursuant to their charter, shall be recorded in a large bound book, of good paper, which shall be safely kept in the library for the perusal of the company; and that every law so recorded, shall be certified and subscribed in the said book by the Secretary for the time being.

Laws to be recorded, &c.

Name, &c. of a new admitted member to be recorded.

And it is hereby further enacted, by the said company, That every person who now is, or that hereafter shall be admitted, and become a member of the said company (other than those whose names are inserted in the charter) shall have his name, and the time of his becoming a member as aforesaid, recorded in the said book of records, and certified by the Secretary, as aforesaid. And that all other matters and things, which by the laws of the company are or shall be directed to be put upon record, shall also be recorded in the said book.

A Law for preventing any advantage by survivorship, among the members of the Library Company.

It is enacted, That the members of the Library Company of Philadelphia, shall hold their estate and interest in the said company, as tenants in common, and not as joint tenants.

The foregoing laws were all enacted and published May the 3d, 1742.

Signed by order,

JOSEPH BREINTNALL, Secretary.

A law for reducing and fixing the price at which a share in the library may be purchased, and to enable the Directors to dispose of duplicates of books, &c.

For the increasing the funds of the Library Company of Philadelphia, for the enlarging the collection of books, and facilitating the advancement of knowledge and literature, it is enacted by the said Library Company, That any person or persons (who shall be approved of by the Directors for the time being) shall be admitted a member or members of the said company, and be entitled to a share in the books, effects and estate of the said company, as fully, to all intents and purposes, as any member now is, or may or can be, upon paying into the hands of the said company's Treasurer, the sum of Ten Pounds, lawful money of Pennsylvania, and receiving a certificate, &c. agreeably to the directions of a law directing the manner of admitting new members.

Fixing the price of a share.

And it is further enacted, That the Directors of the said company for the time being, shall and may, from time to time, as to them shall seem meet, sell and dispose of such duplicates and broken sets of books as shall be found in the said library, and the moneys arising from such sale to pay to the company's Treasurer, for the use of the said library.

Directors authorized to sell duplicates, &c.

The above law was enacted and published February 20, 1768.

FRANCIS HOPKINSON, Secretary.

A Law for ascertaining the fines for neglecting the yearly payments.

Whereas by a law of the Library Company of Philadelphia, entitled "A Law for ascertaining the fines for neglecting the yearly payments," it is, amongst other things, enacted, "That if any member or members of the said company shall neglect to pay his or their yearly payments, for any time not exceeding three months, from and after the first Monday in May, that he or they shall pay the sum of Five Shillings as a fine, together with the said Ten Shillings;" which said law has been found inconvenient and too strict:

It is therefore hereby enacted, by the Library Company of Philadelphia aforesaid, That if any member make his yearly payment within ten days after the said first Monday in May, the same shall be accepted without a fine; but if any member neglect to pay the yearly sum aforesaid, on the said first Monday in May, and for ten days afterwards, for any time longer, not exceeding three months from and after the said first Monday in May, such member shall pay to the Treasurer for the time being, the fine of Five Shillings, together with his said yearly payment. And for neglecting as aforesaid for any time above three months, and not exceeding six months, the fine of Ten Shillings. And for neglecting as aforesaid for any time above six months, and not exceeding nine months, the fine of Fifteen Shillings. And for neglecting as aforesaid for any time above nine months, and not exceeding twelve months, the fine of Fines settled.

Twenty Shillings. Any thing in the said recited law to the contrary in any wise notwithstanding.

Enacted and published the thirteenth of March, 1769.

FRANCIS HOPKINSON, Secretary.

A Law to enable the Directors of the Library Company of Philadelphia, to admit the members of the Union Library Company of Philadelphia.

Directors have power to admit the members of the Union Library Company.

WHEREAS it is conceived that great advantages may arise to the public, as well as to the individual members, by a union of the Library Companies aforesaid: Be it enacted by the Library Company of Philadelphia, that their Directors for the time being, shall have full power and authority to admit the members of the Union Library Company; and that each member so admitted, shall, by virtue thereof, be entitled to an equal share of all the estate both real and personal belonging to the said Library Company of Philadelphia, in common with their other members; and shall receive accordingly certificates thereof. Provided always, That previous thereto, the said Union Library Company do assign over and convey all their estate, both real and personal, to the said Library Company of Philadelphia, and deliver possession thereof to the Directors for the time being; subject nevertheless to all such contracts heretofore made and now subsisting between the said Union Library Company and any of their members, as the said Directors shall deem proper and expedient.

Enacted and published the 13*th of March,* 1769.

FRANCIS HOPKINSON, Secretary.

A Law to enable the Directors of the Library Company of Philadelphia, to purchase a lot of ground in the City of Philadelphia, to erect a building thereon for the use of the institution, and for other purposes therein mentioned.

Directors empowered to purchase a lot.

IN order to accommodate the company with a lot of ground, and a convenient building for the uses of the library, IT IS ENACTED by the Library Company of Philadelphia, That the Directors shall have power and authority to purchase a lot in the city of Philadelphia, on ground rent, on the best terms they can procure, and to cause to be executed, on behalf of the company, a proper counterpart of the deed to be received for the said ground.

And erect a building.

THAT the Directors shall have power to contract for materials and workmanship, and to cause to be erected a suitable building, with cellars, the said building to be two stories high, and of a size sufficient to accommodate and serve the purposes of the library, having regard therein to a gradual increase of books, and other articles there to be deposited.

THAT in order to defray the expense of the said building, the Directors shall endeavour to make an addition to the number of the members, by disposing of shares, and having procured one hundred new members, they may proceed on the work, and may appropriate the moneys now due, and becoming due, and belonging to the company, as well as the cash in the hands of the Treasurer, reserving enough for the current expenses of the library. And the Directors are hereby empowered to grant, bargain and sell for the highest price they can obtain, and by deed or deeds, under the common seal of the company, convey and assure all or any part of the real estate belonging to the company, and to appropriate the moneys arising from the said sales to the purposes aforesaid.

One hundred shares to be previously disposed of.

Directors empowered to sell the real estate belonging to the company.

It is hereby further enacted, That the Directors for the time being, may sell or let out on ground rent for ever, and by deed or deeds, under the common seal of the company, convey and assure such part of the lot they may purchase, as they may judge proper.

And part of the lot which they may purchase.

Enacted at a general meeting, held pursuant to public notice, on Monday the first day of June, 1789.

W. RAWLE, Secretary.

At a meeting of the Directors, December 6th, 1792.

RESOLVED, that persons indebted for fines, or hire, be, in future, entirely precluded from the use of the books belonging to the Library Company of Philadelphia, until such fines and hire be paid.

BENJAMIN R. MORGAN, Secretary.

A law for increasing the price of Shares.

FOR the increasing the funds of the Library Company of Philadelphia, for the enlarging the collection of books, and facilitating the advancement of knowledge and literature, It is enacted by the said Library Company of Philadelphia, That any person or persons (who shall be approved of by the Directors for the time being) shall be admitted a member or members of the said Company as fully, to all intents and purposes, as any member now is or can be, upon paying into the hands of the said Company's Treasurer, the sum of FORTY DOLLARS, and receiving a certificate, agreeably to the directions of a law directing the manner of admitting new members.

And be it further enacted, That so much of the law, passed on the twentieth day of February, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-eight, as fixes the price of a share at ten pounds, be hereby repealed.

Enacted at a general meeting, held pursuant to public notice, on Friday, the thirtieth day of August, 1793.

BENJAMIN R. MORGAN, Secretary.

At a meeting of the Directors, on the second of January, 1794, the following report was made and adopted by the Board, to wit:

The committee to whom was referred the application of the Librarian, relative to the cases of executors and administrators of deceased members, report,

That it would be advisable to direct the Librarian, that no books shall be lent, in such cases, except on notes signed by all the executors or administrators of the person deceased, or by some one of them, appointed and authorized by written orders of the others—such orders to be left with the Librarian as long as any books are taken out by virtue of them.

Extracted from the minutes of the Directors.

BENJAMIN R. MORGAN, Secretary.

An act to repeal so much of any law or laws of the Company, as authorizes the Directors to dispose of the real estate belonging to the Company.

It is enacted by the Library Company of Philadelphia, That so much of any law or laws as authorizes and empowers the Directors to grant or demise any part of the real estate belonging to the said Company shall be and the same is hereby repealed. Provided always, nothing herein contained shall be deemed or taken to restrain the Directors from making leases or agreements relative to the building erected for the reception of the Loganian Library, the cellar under the same, and the cellar under the building in which the Library belonging to this institution is now contained.

Enacted at a general meeting held pursuant to public notice, on the sixteenth day of March, 1795.

BENJAMIN R. MORGAN, Secretary.

At a meeting of the Directors of the Library Company of Philadelphia, April 17, 1795.

Whereas, by an act of the General Assembly, passed on the thirteenth day of April instant, the Directors of the Library Company of Philadelphia are authorized to increase the annual payments to be made by each member to the sum of two dollars, it is therefore Resolved, That the annual payment to be made on each share, on the first Monday of May next, and from and after that time, shall be, and it is hereby, increased to the sum of two dollars, and the Treasurer is hereby authorized and instructed, to demand and receive the same from the members, under the like penalties and forfeitures as are now in force for recovering the annual payments heretofore established.

Extracted from the Minutes.

BENJAMIN R. MORGAN, Secretary.

At a meeting of the Directors, held the sixth of August, 1795, the following resolution was adopted, to wit:

Resolved, That every member, or other person, who shall take out a book or books on hire, shall pay, for the use of the Library, the following rates weekly: For Duodecimos and Octavos two-sixteenths of a dollar, Quartos three-sixteenths of a dollar, and Folios four-sixteenths of a dollar, and no smaller sum, although the book may be returned within the week.

That for neglecting to return the book or books, so taken out on hire, within the time specified in the rules of the Company, they shall pay to the Librarian, for the use aforesaid, two-sixteenths of a dollar per week in addition to the hire.*

Extracted from the Minutes.

BENJAMIN R. MORGAN, Secretary.

At a meeting of the Directors held November 7, 1805, the following resolution was adopted, to wit:

Books belonging to this institution, having in several instances been obtained by printers, and taken to pieces for the purpose of enabling them to print new editions, and such practices being deemed inconsistent with the purposes for which the Library has been established, Resolved, that in all future cases of a similar nature suits shall be brought against the parties transgressing.

Extracted from the Minutes.

BENJAMIN R. MORGAN, Secretary.

At a meeting of the Directors, held October 2, 1806, the following resolution was adopted, to wit:

Resolved, That the gazettes or public newspapers belonging to this institution be annually valued by the labelling committee for the time being, and the said valuation placed in the hands of the Librarian, and in case the same or any part thereof be required by any counsel or attorney as evidence in the courts of justice, the person applying for the same shall sign one of the notes usually taken for books borrowed of the Library, which note shall be filled up in the sum at which the whole set of such papers, of which any volume or volumes are required, shall have been last valued, and also that the same shall be returned within one week from the time of borrowing the same, and fifty cents per diem for each volume paid for its use on its being returned.

Extracted from the Minutes.

BENJAMIN R. MORGAN, Secretary.

* For the further penalties see the rules and regulations annexed, particularly the third and fourth.

A Law to increase the annual payments hereafter to be made by the members of the Library Company of Philadelphia.

WHEREAS, by an act of the Legislature of this Commonwealth, entitled, "An act to amend the Charter of the Library Company of Philadelphia," approved by the Governor, on the seventh day of April, 1832, the members of the said Library Company of Philadelphia, at their general meetings, are authorized to fix, alter, or enlarge the annual payments thereafter to be made, from time to time, as they shall deem just and reasonable: Provided the same shall, at no time, be fixed at less than two, or more than five dollars per annum, exclusive of the accustomed penalties or forfeitures for delay or neglect of payment:—And whereas, the annual payments heretofore received have become insufficient to procure the necessary number of books, and to defray the unavoidable expenses of the company:

Be it therefore enacted by the said Library Company of Philadelphia, That the annual payment to be made on each share, on the first Monday of May next, and from and after that time, shall be, and it is hereby increased to the sum of Four Dollars, and the Treasurer of the Company is hereby authorized and required to demand and receive the same from the members respectively, under the like penalties and forfeitures as are now in force for recovering the annual payments heretofore established.

Enacted into a law at a general meeting, held pursuant to public notice, on the twenty-eighth day of April, 1832.

W. RAWLE, Chairman.

Attest—HENRY J. WILLIAMS, Secretary.

By-Law of the Loganian Library, adopted February 14, 1833.

The members of the Library Company shall be permitted to take out books from the Loganian Library upon signing a promissory note to return the same undefaced within the time limited by the existing by-law, and upon pledging at the same time their respective shares in the company as security for such return: Provided, That no such pledge shall be received, if at the time of applying for a book in the Loganian Library, the applicant has out a book from the Philadelphia Library upon the same share: And provided also, That such pledge shall not be received as a sufficient security for any books that shall be considered by the Librarian as of greater value by itself than twenty dollars.

By-law of the Philadelphia Library, adopted February 14, 1833.

No member shall be entitled to take out a book upon his or her share who at the same time has a book out of the Loganian Library upon a pledge of the same share.

RULES

TO BE OBSERVED BY THE LIBRARY COMPANY OF PHILADELPHIA.

I. The Librarian shall attend at the Library, every day (Sundays excepted) from the first day of April until the first day of October, from two o'clock, P. M. until sun-set, and from the first day of October until the first day of April, from one o'clock, P. M. until sun-set. He shall enter in the catalogue, kept at the library, such books as may be purchased or added to the library; label and number the same, as well as all others from which the label or number may be torn off or defaced. He shall also replace the books on the shelves, as they are brought in, as soon as he conveniently can, first having examined whether they are free from damage.

II. He shall lend to any member,

One Folio for five,
One Quarto for three,
One Octavo, or Two Duodecimos, for two } Weeks, and no greater number, unless on hire, or so connected as to be otherwise useless. Such persons, however, who reside at the distance of seven miles or upwards, are permitted to have books one week longer than the above-mentioned times. For all books so lent, he shall take a note, payable to the Company, for double the value, as nigh as he can estimate, of the book or set of books to which they belong, conditioned to return the same, undefaced, within the time above mentioned; at the expiration of which (unless application has been made by another member for the same books, and the Librarian requested to take a memorandum thereof,) the borrower may, on producing the book to the Librarian, renew his note for the like time.

III. Every person, not being a member, who shall hire a book, &c. shall first give a note for double the value thereof, in the same manner, and be subject to the same regulations, as a member; and shall also deposite, as security, in the hands of the Librarian, double the value of such book or books; but if the book or books should belong to a set, then such person shall deposite treble the value of the volume or volumes which he shall so take out.

IV. Every member, or other person, who shall take out a book or books on hire, shall pay, for the use of the library, the following rates, weekly: For Duodecimos and Octavos two-sixteenths of a dollar, Quartos, three-sixteenths of a dollar, and Folios four-sixteenths of a dollar, and no smaller sum, although the book may be returned within the week.

V. Every member, or other person, who shall neglect to return the book or books, within the time specified in the second rule, shall for such neglect, pay to the Librarian, for the use of the library, (besides the hire, where the book is not taken out by virtue of a share,) two-sixteenths of a dollar per week: and if not returned, undefaced, within one month from the expiration of the time limited in the note, the fines and hire accruing thereupon shall be doubled; and if not so returned within three months from the same period, the note or deposite money shall be forfeited to the company.

VI. Books returned are to be delivered into the hands of the Librarian, to be examined whether damaged or not.

VII. No person from whom any hire or forfeiture is due, or who hath damaged any book, shall be permitted to have another book till satisfaction be made.

VIII. If a member, and one who is not a member, should apply for the same book at the same time, the member shall have the preference.

IX. A member may take out on hire, without a deposite, as many books in value for which his share in the library shall, by the Librarian, be deemed a sufficient security, on the same terms, in other respects, as persons who are not members.

X. The Librarian shall furnish the Directors, at each monthly meeting, with an account of the fines and forfeitures which have accrued during the preceding month.

XI. The Librarian is to conform to the instructions of the Directors with regard to such books as, from their scarcity and value, are to be let out only on certain conditions, or not at all.

XII. No person, whether a member or not, is to lend the book or books he borrows to any person out of his dwelling-house.

XIII. No book shall be lent on the share of a deceased member, unless the note be signed by all the executors or administrators of such deceased member, or by some one of them, appointed and authorized by written orders of the others.

July 1, 1835—Since the first formation of the Company, 104 YEARS.

* The Instrument of Association, signed by thirty-eight Members, was dated July 1, 1731. The first meeting of the Directors, therein appointed, was held on the eighth day of November following. The first importation of Books from London, amounting to £45 sterling, arrived the last of October, 1732, and on the fourteenth of the next ensuing month Louis Timothée, the first Librarian, was appointed, and the Library thereupon opened in a chamber of Robert Grace's house, in Pewter-platter Alley, now called Jones's Alley. On the seventh of April, 1740, the Library was removed from thence to the western wing of the State-house. In August, 1773, it was transferred to the Carpenters' Hall, and in October, 1790, it was placed in the present building.

† At this time the Union Library (into which the Amicable and Association Libraries had previously merged) was incorporated with this Company, and John De Mauregnault, Librarian of the former, and Ludowic Sprogle, Librarian of the latter Company, jointly performed the duties of that station, until the first of May, 1770, when Ludowic Sprogle resigned.

Gale, 4832, D. Electricity, or ethereal fire, considered; comprehending both the theory and practice of medical electricity: constituting the best family physician. By T. Gale, M. D. Troy, 1802.

Green, 4059, 2. & 7541, O. An epitome of electricity and galvanism. By two gentlemen. (Green & Hazard). Philadelphia, 1809.

——— 7864, O. Principles of modern chemistry, systematically arranged. By Dr. Frederick Charles Green. Translated from German, with notes and additions. 2 vols. London, 1800.

Hales, 1579, Q. Sonorum doctrina rationalis et experimentalis, ex Newtoni optimorumque physicorum scriptis, methodo elementaria congesta. Cui præmittetur disquisitio de ære et modificationibus atmosphæræ, auctore Gulielmo Hales, A. M. Londini, 1778.

Howard, 5419, O. The climate of London, deduced from meteorological observations made at different places in the neighbourhood of the metropolis. By Luke Howard. 2 vols. London, 1820.

Jeffries, 456, 3. & 1177, Q. 1. Doctor Jeffries' narrative of the two ærial voyages of Doctor Jeffries with Monsieur Blanchard; with meteorological observations and remarks. The first voyage on the 30th November, 1784, from London into Kent; the second, on the 7th January, 1785. from England into France. London, 1786. P.

Jones, 2785, O. 1. Letters on electricity. By Wm. Jones. London, 1800.

King, 787, Q. 4. Remarks concerning stones said to have fallen from the clouds, both in these days and in ancient times. By Edward King. London, 1796.

Kinnersley, 794, D. 8. Experiments in electricity. By J. Kinnersley. Philadelphia, 1764.

Kircher, 984, D. Athanasii Kircheri magneticum naturæ regnum. Amstelodami, 1667.

Kirwan, 1618, O. An estimate of the temperature of different latitudes. By Richard Kirwan. London, 1787.

Leslie, 7689, O. A short account of experiments and instruments, depending on the relations of the air to heat and moisture. By John Leslie. Edinburgh, 1813.

Lorimer, 2099, Q. A concise essay on magnetism; with an account of the declination and inclination of the magnetic needle; and an attempt to ascertain the cause of the variation thereof. By John Lorimer, M. D. London, 1795.

Lullin, 8621, O. 5. Dissertatio physica de electricitate. Amadeus Lullin. Geneva, 1776.

Lyon, 2345, O. 3. An account of several new phenomena, discovered in examining the bodies of a man and four horses, killed by lightning, near Dover, in Kent; with remarks on the insufficiency of the popular theory of electricity to explain them. By the Rev. John Lyon. London, 1796.

Mahon, 348, Q. Principles of electricity; containing new theorems and experiments, with an analysis of the superior advantages of high and pointed conductors; with plates. By Charles Viscount Mahon. London, 1779.

——— 1090, Q. The same. P.

Martin, 1952, O. 2. Animal magnetism examined. By John Martin. London, 1790.

Meade, 6964, O. 3. On the origin and progress of galvanism, or voltaic electricity. By Wm. Meade, M. D. Dublin, 1805.

Michell, 1149, 4. & 8186, O. 3. A treatise of artificial magnets, and a method of making them. By J. Michell. Cambridge, 1751.

Milner, 1320, 1. & 8148, O. 2. Experiments and observations on electricity. By Thomas Milner, D. D. London, 1783.

Morgan, 1149, & 4979, D. Lectures on electricity. By G. C. Morgan. 2 vols. Norwich, 1794.

Nairne, 8632, O. 5. Directions for using the electrical machine, made by Edward Nairne. London, 1764.

——— 8594, O. 4. The description and use of Nairne's electrical machine, with medical observations. London, 1783.

Penrose, 900, O. 3. A treatise on electricity. By Francis Penrose, M. D. Oxford, 1752.

Pointer, 494, O. 1. A rational account of the weather; with three essays towards accounting for wet years; the aurora borealis; and the plague. By John Pointer, M. D. 2d edit. London, 1738.

Pollock, 8872, O. An attempt to explain the phenomena of heat, electricity, galvanism, magnetism, gravitation, and light. By T. Pollock. London, 1832.

Priestley, 32, Q. The history and present state of electricity; with original experiments. By Joseph Priestley. London, 1767.

——— 8092, O. Experiments and observations on different kinds of air and other branches of natural philosophy, connected with the subject. By Joseph Priestley. 3 vols. Birmingham, 1790.

Rackstrow, 8621, O. 2. Observations and experiments on electricity, with the manner of performing them. By B. Rackstrow. London, 1748.

Read, 2086, & 6709, O. A summary view of the spontaneous electricity of the earth and atmosphere; wherein the causes of lightning and thunder, &c. are explained. To which is subjoined the atmosphericoelectrical journal, kept during two years. By John Read. London, 1793.

Redfield, 7319, O. 5. Remarks on the prevailing storms of the Atlantic coast of the North American states. By C. Redfield. New York, 1803.

Saul, 894, O. An historical and philosophical account of the barometer or weather-glass; wherein the use of that instrument, the theory of the atmosphere, and the causes of its gravitation are explained. By Edward Saul, A. M. London, 1730.

Scheele, 1207, O. Chemical observations and experiments on air and fire. Translated from the German of Charles William Scheele, by John Reinholdt Forster. With notes by Richard Kirwan; and a letter to him from Joseph Priestly. London, 1780.

Southern, 1442, O. 1. A treatise upon aërostatic machines; containing rules for calculating their powers of ascension, &c. the method of constructing them; with directions for filling them and making inflammable air, &c. By John Southern. Birmingham, 1785.

Stanhope, 1124, Q. 2. Remarks on Mr. Brydone's account of a remarkable thunder-storm in Scotland. By Charles Edward Stanhope. London, 1787.

Thompson, 7136, O. An outline of the sciences of electricity and heat. By Thomas Thompson, M. D. London, 1830.

Walker, 2803, O. 6. A treatise on magnetism. With plates. By Ralph Walker. London, 1794.

——— 2585, O. A treatise on the magnet, or natural loadstone; with tables of the variation of the magnetic needle, for all latitudes and longitudes. To which is added an appendix, containing hints to shipbuilders and navigators. With plates. By Ralph Walker. London, 1798.

Watson, 900, 1. & 8621, O. 3. Experiments and observations on the nature and properties of electricity. By Sir William Watson, M. D. 3d edit. London, 1746.

——— 900, O. 2. Sequel to the "Experiments and observations on the nature and properties of electricity." By Sir William Watson, M. D. 2d edit. London, 1746.

——— 8621, O. 4. An account of the experiments made to discover whether the electrical power would be sensible at great distances. Communicated by Sir William Watson, M. D. London, 1748.

Wells, 7471, O. Two essays: one upon single vision with two eyes, the other on dew, and an account of a female, part of whose skin resembles that of a negro; with some observations on the causes of the differences in colour and form between the white and negro race of men. By the late William Charles Wells, M. D.; with a memoir of his life, written by himself. London, 1818.

Wilkinson, 3018, O. Elements of galvanism; with a view of its history, from the first experiments of Galvani to the present time; with plates. By C. H. Wilkinson. London, 1804.

Williamson, 4951, O. Observations on the climate in different parts of America, compared with the climate in corresponding parts of the other continent. By Hugh Williamson, M. D. New York, 1811. Gift of the author.

Wilson, 1275, O. Observations relative to the influence of climate on vegetable and animal bodies. By Alexander Wilson, M. D. London, 1780.

——— 8640, O. 5. An essay on electricity. By Benjamin Wilson, F. R. S. London, 1746.

——— 21, O. A treatise on electricity. By Benjamin Wilson, F. R. S. 2d edit. London, 1752.

——— 387, Q. 3. A short view of electricity. By Benjamin Wilson, F. R. S. London, 1780.

954, Q. 20. Observations on the present extraordinary frost. London, 1684.

1055, F. 1. The meteorologist's assistant in keeping a diary of the weather; or, atmospherical register, &c. &c. London, 1798.

479, O. A chronological history of the air, weather, seasons, meteors, &c. in sundry places and different times; more particularly for the space of two hundred and fifty years; with their effects on animal bodies. 2 vols. London, 1749.

CHEMISTRY.

Accum, 7865, O. System of theoretical and practical chemistry. 2 vols. By Frederick Accum. 2d edit. London, 1807.

——— 2638, D. Chemical amusement, comprising a series of curious and instructive experiments in chemistry. 2d edit. By Frederick Accum. London, 1818.

Aikin, 1437, Q. A dictionary of chemistry and mineralogy; with an account of the processes employed in many of the most important chemical manufactures. By A. and C. R. Aikin. 2 vols. London, 1807.

——— 1632, Q. An account of the most important recent discoveries and improvements in chemistry and mineralogy, to the present time. By A. and C. R. Aikin. London, 1814.

Bache, 2268, O. 7. An inaugural dissertation to ascertain the morbid effects of carbonic acid gas, or fixed air, on healthy animals, and the manner in which they are produced. By William Bache. Philadelphia, 1794. Gift of the author.

——— 7756, O. A system of chemistry, for the use of students of medicine. By Franklin Bache, M. D. Philadelphia, 1819.

Barton, 3876, & 9132, O. A dissertation on the properties of the nitrous oxide gas, submitted as an inaugural thesis for the degree of M. D. By William P. C. Barton, A. B. Philadelphia, 1808. Gift of the author.

Beaumé, 4646, D. A manual of chemistry. Translated from the French of M. Beaumé. Warrington, 1786.

Bergman, 1367, & 7782, O. Physical and chemical essays. Translated from the original Latin of Sir Torbern Bergman, by Edmund Cullen, M. D. To which are added, notes and illustrations, by the translator. 2 vols. London, 1788.

Berzelius, 5601, O. The use of the blowpipe, in chemical analysis, and in the examination of minerals. By J. J. Berzelius; translated from the French of M. Fresnel. By J. G. Children, with notes and additions. London, 1822.

Black, 1008, Q. Lectures on the elements of chemistry, delivered in the university of Edinburgh. By Joseph Black, M. D. Published from his manuscripts. By John Robinson. 2 vols. Edinburgh, 1803.

——— 7793, O. The same. 3 vols. Philadelphia, 1807.

——— 5003, D. 2. Experiments upon magnesia alba, and quick lime. By Joseph Black, M. D. To which is annexed an essay on the cold produced by evaporating fluids. By Wm. Cullen, M. D. Edinburgh, 1777.

Boerhaave, 115, & 124, Q. A new method of chemistry; including the theory and practice of the art; with notes and plates. To which is prefixed, a critical history of chemistry and chemists, from the origin of the art to the present time. By H. Boerhaave. Translated by P. Shaw and E. Chambers. London, 1727.

——— 2164, Q. The same. London, 1741.

Boerhaave, 8186, O. 5. Some experiments concerning mercury. By J. U. Boerhaave. London, 1734.

Brande, 5423, O. 1. Dissertation, exhibiting a general view of the progress of chemical philosophy, from the early ages to the end of the 18th century. By William Thomas Brande. Boston, 1818.

——— 5271, O. A manual of chemistry; containing the principal facts of the science, arranged in the order in which they are discussed and illustrated in the lectures at the royal institution of Great Britain. By William Thomas Brande. London, 1819.

——— 7754, O. The same. With notes, &c. By W. J. Macnevin, M. D. New York, 1821.

Bryan, 1908, & 3334, D. Conversations on chemistry. By Mrs. Bryan. Plates. 2 vols. in 1. Philadelphia, 1816.

——— 2658, D. Conversations on chemistry; in which the elements of that science are familiarly explained and illustrated by experiments. By Mrs. Margaret Bryan; revised and corrected by Thomas Cooper, M. D. 2 vols. Philadelphia. 1818.

Cooper, 9139, O. 6. A discourse on the connection between chemistry and medicine, delivered in the university of Pennsylvania. By Thomas Cooper, Esq. M. D. Philadelphia, 1818.

Chaptal, 2255, O. Elements of chemistry. By M. I. A. Chaptal. Translated from the French. 3 vols. London, 1791.

——— 7476, O. Elements of chemistry. By M. J. A. Chaptal. Fourth American edition, by James Woodhouse, M. D. 2 vols. Philadelphia, 1807.

——— 7794, O. Elements of chemistry. By M. J. A. Chaptal. Translated from the French, by Wm. Nicholson. Philadelphia, 1799.

Coxe, 5743, 1. & 9145, O. 4. Observations on combustion and acidification, with a new theory of those processes. By John R. Coxe, M. D. Philadelphia, 1811.

Cutbush, 2173, & 4731, D. The philosophy of experimental chemistry. By James Cutbush. 2 vols. Philadelphia, 1813. Gift of the author.

Dalton, 3937, O. A new system of chemical philosophy. Part 1st. By John Dalton. Manchester, 1808.

Davy, 4395, & 7484, O. Elements of chemical philosophy. By Sir Humphrey Davy, LL. D. Part 1, vol. 1. Philadelphia, 1812.

——— 4662, O. The same. London, 1812.

——— 4536, O. Elements of agricultural chemistry, in a course of lectures, for the board of agriculture. By Sir Humphrey Davy. New York, 1815.

——— 4661, O. The same. London, 1814.

Donovan, 5749, D. A treatise on chemistry. By Michael Donovan. London, 1832.

Dossie, 982, & 8276, O. Institutes of experimental chemistry: being an essay towards reducing that branch of natural philosophy to a regular system. 2 vols. By Robert Dossie, Esq. London, 1759.

——— 881, & 8269, O. The elaboratory laid open; or, the secrets of modern chemistry and pharmacy revealed. By Robert Dossie, Esq. London, 1768.

Ewell, 7690, O. Plain discourses on the laws or properties of matter, containing the elements or principles of modern chemistry. By Thomas Ewell, M. D. New York, 1800.

Farady, 6263, O. Chemical manipulation; being instructions to students in chemistry, the methods of performing experiments of demonstration, or of research, with accuracy and success. By Michael Farady. London, 1827.

Febure, le, 311, Q. A complete body of chemistry. By Nicasius Le Febure. London, 1670.

Fourcroy, 1369, O. Fourcroy's elementary lectures on chemistry and natural history. Translated from the French. By Thomas Elliott, with additions and notes, by the translator. 2 vols. London, 1785.

——— 7967, O. Elements of natural history and chemistry. By M. Fourcroy. Translated from the last Paris edition, with a view of the ancient and modern names of chemical substances, to which is prefixed, by the translator, a preface, containing strictures on the history and present state of chemistry. 3 vols. London, 1790.

Forster, 8186, O. 6. An easy method of assaying and classing substances. By John R. Forster. London, 1772.

Freind, 4586, D. Chymical lectures, in which almost all the operations of chemistry are reduced to their true principles. By John Freind, M. D. London, 1757.

Gorham, 5187, O. The elements of chemical science; with plates. By John Gorham, M. D. Boston, 1819.

Grange, la, 8043, O. A manual of a course of chemistry. By J. B. Bouillon La Grange. Translated from the French, with an appendix by the translator. 2 vols. London, 1800.

Gray, 6415, O. The operative chemist; being a practical display of the arts and manufactures which depend upon chemical principles. By S. F. Gray. London, 1828.

Gurney, 5974, O. A course of lectures on chemical science, as delivered at the Surrey institution. By Goldsworthy Gurney. London, 1823.

Hales, 8333, O. 3. An account of a useful discovery to distil sea water. By Stephen Hales, D. D. London, 1756.

——— 8444, O. Philosophical experiments: containing instructions for voyages at sea, showing how sea water may be made fresh, &c.; and a proposal for cleansing mud, &c. out of rivers, harbours, &c. By Stephen Hales, D. D. London, 1739.

Harrington, 7639, O. The death warrant of the French theory of chemistry, signed by truth, reason, common sense, honour, and science; and strictures upon the chemical opinions of Messrs. Weigleb, Cruikshanks, Davy, Leslie, Count Rumford, and Dr. Thompson. By Robert Harrington, M. D. London, 1804.

Henry, 1397, D. An epitome of chemistry. By Thomas Henry. 2d edit. London, 1801.

——— 6149, O. The elements of experimental chemistry. By William Henry, M. D. 10th edit. 2 vols. London, 1826.

——— 1280, O. 1. Method of preserving water, at sea, from putrefaction; with a mode of impregnating water with fixed air; and the preparation of artificial yeast; with plates. By Thomas Henry. Warrington, 1781.

Higgins, 7724, O. Experiments and observations, relating to acetous acid, fixable air, oils, and fuel; fire and light, combustion, respiration, and other subjects of chemical philosophy. By Bryan Higgins, M. D. London, 1786.

Hill, 8186, O. 8. Enquiries into the nature of a new mineral acid. By Sir John Hill. London, 1775.

Jacobs, 5169, D. 1. The student's chemical pocket companion. By W. S. Jacobs, M. D. Philadelphia, 1802.

Jacquin, 8146, O. Elements of chemistry, by J. Francis Jacquin. Translated from the German. By Henry Stutzer. London, 1799.

Johnson, 3019, & 7685, O. History of the progress and present state of animal chemistry. By W. B. Johnson, M. B. 3 vols. London, 1803.

——— 2490, O. 6. An experimental inquiry into the properties of carbonic acid gas, or fixed air. By Joseph Johnson. Philadelphia, 1797. Gift of James Woodhouse.

Kirwan, 7901, O. An essay on phlogiston, and the constitution of acids. By R. Kirwan, Esq. To which are added, notes, exhibiting and defending the antiphlogistic theory; with additional remarks and replies, by the author. London, 1789.

Kunkle, 1161, O. Pyrotechnical discourses; being an experimental confirmation of chemical philosophy, by John Kunkle; a discourse on the original of metallic veins, by George Ernest Stahl; and the grounds of metallic assaying, &c. by John Christian Fritschius. Translated from the Latin. London, 1705.

Lardner, 5747, D. A treatise on heat. By the Rev. Dionysius Lardner, LL. D. London, 1833.

Lavoisier, 7638, O. Elements of chemistry, in a new systematic order, containing all the modern discoveries. By M. Lavoisier. Translated from the French by Robert Kerr. Edinburgh, 1790.

——— 2409, O. The same. London, 1797.

——— 1325, & 1354, O. Lavoisier's essays, physical and chemical. Translated from the French, with notes and an appendix, by Thomas Henry. London, 1776.

Lemery, 1155, O. A course of chemistry. By Nicholas Lemery, M. D. 3d edit. London, 1798.

Leslie, 3689, O. An experimental inquiry into the nature and propagation of heat; with plates. By John Leslie. London, 1804.

Lewis, 8130, O. A course of practical chemistry. By William Lewis, M. B. London, 1746.

Mackenzie, 5467, O. One thousand experiments in chemistry; with illustrations of natural phenomena; and practical observations on the manufacturing and chemical processes at present pursued in the useful arts; with engravings. By Colin Mackenzie. London, 1821.

Maclean, 2626, O. 4. Two lectures on combustion, supplementary to a course of lectures on chemistry. By John Maclean. Philadelphia, 1797.

Macquer, 274, Q. A dictionary of chemistry; containing the theory and practice of that science. Translated from the French of M. Macquer. London, 1771.

——— 3297, O. The same; with notes, additions, and plates. 3 vols. London, 1777. P.

——— 306, O. The elements of the theory and practice of chemistry. Translated from the French of M. Macquer. 2 vols. London, 1758.

Magellan, 8594, O. 5. Description of a glass apparatus for making the best mineral waters. By J. H. de Magellan. London, 1783.

Monro, 7905, O. A treatise on medical and pharmaceutical chemistry, and the materia medica. 4 vols. By Donald Monro, M. D. London, 1783.

Morgan, 8594, O. 1. An examination of Dr. Crawford's theory of heat and combustion. By William Morgan. London, 1781.

Moyes, 8594, O. 6. Heads of a course of lectures on philosophical chemistry. By Henry Moyes, M. D. London.

Murray, 4134, O. A system of chemistry. By J. Murray. 2d edit. 4 vols. Edinburgh, 1809.

——— 5378, O. The elements of chemical science, as applied to the arts and manufactures, and natural phenomena. By J. Murray. London, 1818.

Neumann, 78, & 79, Q. The chemical works of Caspar Neumann, abridged and methodized; with large additions, containing the later discoveries and improvements made in chemistry. By William Lewis. London, 1759.

——— 8004, O. The same. 2 vols. London, 1773.

Nicholson, 7827, O. The first principles of chemistry. By William Nicholson. 3d edit. Revised by the author. London, 1796.

Ottley, 6167, O. A dictionary of chemistry, and of mineralogy as connected with it; in which is attempted a complete list of the names of sub stances, according to the present as well as former systems; with an introduction and a vocabulary. By William C. Ottley. London, 1826.

Parkes, 2090, D. The rudiments of chemistry; illustrated by experiments and engravings. By Samuel Parkes. Philadelphia, 1810.

——— 8071, O. The chemical catechism; with notes, illustrations, and experiments. By S. Parkes. London, 1808.

——— 3872, & 4843, O. The same. Philadelphia, 1807. 6th edit. New York, 1816.

——— 2478, D. Chemical essays, principally relating to the arts and manufactures of the British dominions. By Samuel Parkes. 5 vols. London, 1815.

Parkinson, 2147, D. The chemical pocket-book, or memoranda chemica; arranged in a compendium of chemistry. By James Parkinson. 4th edit. London, 1809.

——— 185, & 4948, D. The same; with an appendix, containing the principal objections to the anti-phlogistic system of chemistry, with plates. By James Woodhouse. Philadelphia, 1802. Gift of James Humphreys.

Pasley, 5445, O. 8. A treatise on heat, flame, and combustion. By T. H. Pasley. London, 1820.

Pictet, 4972, D. An essay on fire. By Mark Augustus Pictet. Translated from the French. London, 1791.

Priestley, 8186, O. 1. An enquiry into the general nature of heat, with MS. notes by Dr. Priestley. London, 1790.

——— 4764, D. Heads of lectures on a course of experimental philosophy, particularly chemistry. By Joseph Priestley. Dublin, 1794.

——— 4382, O. 2. The doctrine of phlogiston established. By Joseph Priestley. Northumberland, 1805.

Rotheram, 8640, O. 1. A philosophical inquiry into the nature and properties of water. By J. Rotheram, M. D. Newcastle, 1770.

Sandivogius, 1832, Q. A new chymical light. By M. Sandivogius. Translated into English. MS. Gift of J. P. Norris, Esq.

Scheele, 8221, O. The chemical essays of Charles William Scheele. Translated by Thomas Beddoes. London, 1786.

Shaw, 282, O. Chemical lectures, for the improvement of arts, trades, and natural philosophy. By Peter Shaw. London, 1732.

—— 959, & 8481, O. Philosophical principles of universal chemistry: designed as a general introduction to artificial philosophy, or genuine chemistry. Drawn from the collegium jenense of Dr. G. E. Stahl. By Peter Shaw, M. D. London, 1730.

Smith, 2485, & 8612, O. 5. Sketch of the revolutions in chemistry. By Thomas P. Smith. Philadelphia, 1798. Gift of the author.

Stack, 2943, O. An introduction to the study of chemistry, explaining its principles, and their application to arts, manufactures, &c. By Richard Stack, D. D. Dublin, 1802.

Symes, 8621, O. 1. Fire analysed; and the method of making electricity medicinal and healing. By Richard Symes. Bristol, 1771.

Thenard, 5272, O. An essay on chemical analysis; chiefly translated from the fourth volume of traité de chime elementaire, of L. J. Thenard. With additions, comprehending the latest discoveries and improvements, by John George Children. London, 1819.

Thompson, 3675, & 7918, O. A system of chemistry. By Thomas Thomson, M. D. 4 vols. London, 1802.

——— 4238, D. The history of chemistry. By Thomas Thomson, M. D. 2 vols. London, 1830.

Turner, 6314, O. The elements of chemistry, including the recent discoveries and doctrines of the science. By Edward Turner, M. D. Edinburgh, 1827.

Vaughan, 5169, D. 4. Chemical syllabus. By Dr. John Vaughan. Wilmington, 1799.

Waller, 2412, O. 2. An account of some remarkable discoveries in the production of artificial cold. By R. Waller. London, 1796.

Watson, 701, D. Chemical essays. By R. Watson, D. D. 2d edit. 5 vols. London, 1782, &c.

——— 1627, D. The same. Cambridge, 1781. P.

——— 8192, O. The same. Dublin, 1791.

Wiegeleb, 2114, Q. A general system of chemistry, theoretical and practical; digested and arranged with a particular view to its application to the arts, taken chiefly from the German of M. Wiegeleb. By C. R. Hopson, M. D. London, 1789.

Woodhouse, 2268, O. 2. Observations on the combination of acids, bitters and astringents; being a refutation of some of the principles of Dr. Percival on that subject. By James Woodhouse. Philadelphia, 1793. Gift of the author.

——— 5169, 2. & 1249, D. The young chemist's pocket companion; connected with a portable laboratory. By James Woodhouse. Philadelphia, 1797. Gift of the author.

Farey, 1934, Q. A treatise on the steam engine, historical, practical and descriptive. By John Farey. London, 1827.

Fenwick, 3044, O. 1. Four essays on practical mechanics. By Thomas Fenwick. 2d edit. Newcastle-upon-Tyne, 1802.

Ferguson, 91, Q. Lectures on select subjects in mechanics, hydrostatics, pneumatics and optics; with the use of the globes; the art of dialling, and the calculation of the mean times of new and full moons, and eclipses; with plates. By James Ferguson. London, 1764.

——— 92, Q. A supplement to the lectures on select subjects; with plates. By James Ferguson. London, 1767.

——— 7762, O. Ferguson's lectures on select subjects in mechanics, hydrostatics, optics, and dialling. A new edition, with notes, by David Brewster; revised and corrected, by Robert Patterson. 2 vols. and Atlas. Philadelphia, 1806.

——— 8632, O. 2. Analysis of a course of lectures on mechanics, &c. By James Ferguson. London, 1761.

Gamble, 784, Q. 2. An essay on the different modes of communication by signals; containing an history of the improvements in this art. By John Gamble. London, 1797.

Gray, 5324, O. 1. A treatise on spinning machinery; illustrated with plans of different machines made use of in that art; with some observations tending to show that the arts of spinning, weaving and sewing, were invented by the ingenuity of females. By Andrew Gray. Edinburgh, 1819.

Gregory, 4391, O. A treatise on mechanics, theoretical, practical and descriptive. By Olinthus Gregory, A. M. 2d edit. With improvements. 3 vols. London, 1807.

Griffith, 9121, O. 4. An essay on the art of boring the earth for obtainment of water; with hints for a new theory for the rise of waters. By Mr. Griffith. New-Brunswick, 1826.

Hales, 757, O. A description of ventilators; whereby fresh air may with ease be conveyed into mines, gaols, hospitals, work-houses, and ships. By Stephen Hales. London, 1743.

Hawkesbee, 808, O. Physico-mechanical experiments, on various subjects; with explanations of all the machines engraved on copper. By F. Hawkesbee. 2d edit. London, 1719.

Kater, 4178, D. The cabinet of natural philosophy; conducted by the Rev. Dionysius Lardner. Mechanics, by Captain Henry Kater. London, 1830.

Kater, 4282, D. A treatise on mechanics. By Captain Henry Kater and Dionysius Lardner. Philadelphia, 1831.

Lanz, 1770, Q. 2. Analytical essay on the construction of machines. Translated from the French of M. M. Lanz and Bétancourt. London, 1819.

Lardner, 4245, D. A treatise on hydrostatics and pneumatics. By the Rev. Dionysius Lardner. London, 1831.

Macdonald, 3932, O. A treatise on telegraphic communication, naval, military and political; in which the defects of the present system are obviated by the introduction of a numerical portable dictionary, calculated to be the medium of carrying on distant conversation without any liability to confusion, error, or mistake; illustrated by linear plates. By John Macdonald, Esq. London, 1808.

Marrat, 4327, O. An introduction to the theory and practice of mechanics; in five books, for the use of schools; with examples. By W. Marrat. Boston, 1810.

Moseley, 6032, D. A treatise on mechanics, applied to the arts, including statics and hydrostatics. By the Rev. H. Moseley. London, 1834.

Nicholson, 6038, O. The operative mechanic and British machinist; being a practical display of the manufactories and mechanical arts of the united kingdom. By John Nicholson, Esq. London, 1825.

Partington, 5628, O. An historical and descriptive account of the steam-engine, comprising a general view of the various modes of employing elastic vapour as a prime mover in mechanics; with an appendix of patents. By Charles Frederick Partington. London, 1822.

Renwick, 3976, D. Popular lectures on the steam engine, with an historical sketch of its invention and progressive improvement. By the Rev. Dionysius Lardner. With additions, by James Renwick. New York, 1828.
